

- NPL project: To report on needs for a UK facility to generate radioactively-labelled aerosols for the calibration of air monitors
- What would be needed from such a facility (Activity concentration? Particle sizes/distributions? Ambient environmental conditions?)
- What the solution might be (New facility or facilities? Adaptation of existing facility?)
- Alternative – standard filters?